It is intended that children can have an entrepreneurial spirit, independence, and practice responsibility from an early age. Entrepreneurship education is usually given to subjects at school, however, here we want to instill the entrepreneurial spirit in mosque youth. A modern and educated society should not only be able to find work, but we should be able to create our own jobs and become entrepreneurs. Entrepreneurship can benefit yourself as well as others. It is hoped that the formation of an entrepreneurial spirit will be able to become a milestone for community change for the better. In this program we involve the youth of the Al Amin mosque. In addition to training children to be active, participatory, creative and innovative teenagers. Through this program, we hope that young people will also be able to be responsible and live independently.

INTRODUCTION

Entrepreneurship in general is a process of doing something new or creative and different (innovative) that is useful in providing added value, while an entrepreneur is someone who is free and has independence in carrying out his own business activities in managing time and anything related to his business. This kind of entrepreneurship can be done by anyone who is diligent and enterprising and does not give up easily. The characteristics of a person called an entrepreneur include: 1). Have the courage to have creative power, 2). Dare to take risks, 3). Have passion and willpower, 4). Having the right analysis, 5). Not consumptive, 6). Have the soul of a leader, 7). Oriented to the future.

Mosque youth is a collection of children who are teenagers between the ages of 13-15 years who carry out worship and other social activities in the mosque environment. Mosque youth need to be fostered to be able to continue to carry out activities that are useful for themselves and even for the community around their environment. Cultivating an entrepreneurial spirit can be done early on for someone, especially for mosque youths. This is very important so that the mosque's youth have entrepreneurial knowledge that is useful for themselves and others. As an economist, we should be able to do small things to improve the economy for ourselves and those around us. In essence, childhood is a time to play but there is nothing wrong if we do entrepreneurship activities in addition to playing activities. By instilling an entrepreneurial spirit from an early age, it is hoped that children will get used to living independently, having a sense of responsibility, being creative, and innovative. If they have good knowledge and entrepreneurial spirit, the economic level could be better because many students already have an entrepreneurial spirit which then they will be eager to look for other innovations to be developed in choosing a business, so that we will bring up entrepreneurs who are young people who can make their own products from within the country and are expected to someday develop and then create jobs for others, and the participants will have a useful time. Based on the previous background, the community service team of the Faculty of Economics and Business, Wijaya Kusuma University, Surabaya, provided training related to entrepreneurship with the theme "Instruction of the Entrepreneurial Spirit for Youth at Al Amin Mosque, Perum Griya Surabaya Asri, Sumberejo, Pakal City of Surabaya. The purpose of community service activities is to provide motivation so that Al Amin mosque youth can create their own jobs

Service activities for This community is expected to provide benefits to the community, especially the Al Amin mosque youth, is to provide positive activities that can improve the welfare of the surrounding community

METHOD

The method of implementing this community service is carried out in several stages. These stages include: Preparation stage, at this stage the Community Service team came to the location to identify existing problems and then tried to find a way out of the problem by offering activity programs that could be implemented in collaboration with mosque youth and mosque administrators. After that we took care of the permit letter to the Al Amin Mosque Management. Next, form an Implementation Team and deliver our program. Stages of Implementation, at the stage of implementing the activities are in the form of lectures and training methods.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

Community service activities are carried out on the TPQ Al Amin page. The activities started with listening to lectures, explanations related to entrepreneurship. This explanation is expected to be able to provide motivation for mosque youth to further develop themselves, even though on average they are still children who usually prefer to play rather than study. In the last session, training was given to make handicrafts and how to make crafts by utilizing plastic waste so that they have added value and are marketable.

From the results of providing explanations and discussions, it can be concluded that the Al Amin Mosque Youth has never received information related to entrepreneurship. This may be due to the fact that most of them are still in junior high school (SMP) and the desire for entrepreneurship is still low. A very important part of this activity is to increase the motivation of the Al Amin mosque youth to want to be entrepreneurs. The youths of this mosque were given an introduction to what entrepreneurship is. How? Why? and Benefits? In a fun way and method so you don't feel like you're in class. The method used is like a game so that the youth of this mosque are not bored. In addition, no one has motivated the Al Amin Mosque Youth to try something new that can be used as something that is considered an opportunity to try entrepreneurship. By providing this explanation, it can increase the understanding and motivation of entrepreneurship and will be able to shape the mindset of these teenagers to be able to increase creativity and innovation from an early age.

At the end of the community service activity session, a skill is given, namely using items that are no longer used or waste made of plastic to become a more useful "container". Before being given the exercise or practice of making useful "containers", we explained the reasons for choosing plastic waste. Plastic waste, especially from households, is not small in number. Besides, plastic waste is very difficult to destroy. It takes tens or even hundreds of years to decompose, so a solution is needed so that this plastic waste can be handled properly. There are several alternatives for handling plastic waste such as Reuse, namely reusing used goods without prior processing for the same or different purposes from the purpose of the initial material. For example: using plastic waste as raw material for crafts, used tires packed into seats and so on. This reuse is the reason for us to provide skills to use plastic waste for Al Amin mosque youth. The results of this craft will be very useful for Al Amin Mosque Youth because this 'container' will be able to be used alone, even this 'container' can be of sale value so that it can open up business opportunities that Al Amin Mosque Youth can try.

We hope that as a community service team, we hope that by introducing entrepreneurship and providing skills to the youth of the Al Amin mosque, it will be beneficial for them before they become adults or students become students who can create their own business opportunities and benefit the surrounding community.

CONCLUSION

The implementation of community service carried out by the Community Service team, Faculty of Economics and Business, Wijaya Kusuma University Surabaya, was held by providing explanations and materials on fostering an entrepreneurial spirit for Al Amin mosque youth, then training in arts crafts whose basic ingredients came from plastic waste such as mineral water bottles. or a place that has been thrown away because it has run out of contents. The implementation of this community service is expected to be able to foster an entrepreneurial spirit in mosque youth even though they are still in school. The advice we got was that this activity could take place continuously so that the mosque's youths received guidance not only from the game side but also from the social side and being able to become entrepreneurs.
